Book Details:

Set in the exciting world of Prada about a former male model turned brand manager and the beautiful small town public relations specialist he doesn't think he needs.

Go behind the scenes in the fashion industry as Gwendolyn Mallory sets out to prove that she has what it takes to promote a prestigious brand like Prada. Andrew Morgan is already struggling to accept that his PR responsibilities have been taken away from him, but the intense attraction he has for Gwen, is just plain getting in the way of rational thinking—sleeping with a co-worker has always been on his to-do list.

Follow the sparkling fuse slowly burning with sexual tension as Gwen brings to life a sexy devil...who just happens to wear Prada. Andrew has to have the woman he never knew he needed.

About the Author:

Deborah Garland is a versatile author of women's fiction, contemporary and paranormal romances. Her books are about love and the struggles of complicated relationships. The heroines are strong and witty and the heroes fall hard for them. She lives on the North Shore of Long Island with her husband and their two pugs, Zoe and Harley.
